SOCIETY FOR FINANCIAL EDUCATION & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

ABOUT SFEPD

For 25 years, the Society for Financial Education and Professional Development (SFEPD), based in the Washington, D.C. area, has served as a financial literacy and professional development nonprofit. We teach financial skills to people of all ages and backgrounds with a focus on underserved communities and HBCU college students.

Our mission is to enhance financial and economic literacy and to promote the professional development of individuals in underserved communities.

FAITH-BASED COMMUNITY SEMINARS

SFEPD teaches customized financial literacy seminars to pastors, ministers, students at divinity and theology schools, and individuals at faith-based institutions. Our mission is to increase the financial and stewardship knowledge of students, ministers, and pastors by teaching them practical money management skills. The program is designed for divinity students, ministers, and pastors to learn how to teach financial skills to their congregants. SFEPD teaches religious leaders financial empowerment strategies and encourages them to use SFEPD's curriculum training model in faith-based communities.

SFEPD offers a range of presentation topics designed specifically for faith-based audiences. These topics include a faith-centered approach to the stewardship of financial resources, Sacred Money Wars, and What Is Your Will? SFEPD also presents on financial planning for pastors and ministers, student loan management, and IRS considerations for pastors and ministers. Additional topics include managing and maintaining a 501(c)(3) organization, maximizing financial blessings through investing, credit and debt management, church risk management, and how to manage a church through economic cycles.

ONLINE FINANCIAL LITERACY COURSE

Maximizing Your Financial Blessings is a faith-based online financial literacy certificate grounded in SFEPD's Mind Over Money Skills curriculum. The program weaves biblical principles and stewardship into eight engaging modules covering budgeting and goal setting, credit and debt, student loans, insurance, homeownership, investing, retirement, and estate planning. Participants gain practical financial knowledge while aligning money decisions with their faith and values, and upon completion, earn a digital badge credential issued through Credly.
